February Big Idea: Uniqueness	Kara Arnold, our Staff Developer for ELA Instruction worked with our 3rd, 4th and 5th Grade Teachers (both Euclid and Lincoln School) today to ensure we are delivering the best instructional practices to our students.
"Be yourself; everyone else is already taken." Oscar Wilde's quote is a beautiful reminder to us that our uniqueness is what makes us special. Just like a rainbow is made up of different colors, our world is made beautiful by the diversity of people in it. Being different is not only okay but also something to be valued and cherished. By embracing the differences in ourselves and others, we can foster empathy, understanding, and acceptance. You are a unique individual with your own talents, passions, and perspectives, and you should embrace these qualities wholeheartedly. Animal: The Leafy Sea Dragon- They show us that our own unique strengths and abilities to adapt to different situations will always be a part of us. Leafy Sea dragons have intricate leaf-like appendages that help them blend seamlessly into their environment, resembling floating seaweed. Their exceptional camouflage abilities help them to hide from their enemies. The leafy sea dragon shows us that our own unique strengths and abilities to adapt to different situations will always be a part of us. Color: Lime Green

Euclid School's Read Across America Reading Challenge is taking place now! From February 3rd to February 28th Euclid School is continuing to foster a love of Reading during our annual Reading Challenge. We encourage you to READ with your child each night and log their minutes (Google Form Attached). Winning class gets to take on the Faculty in a Kickball or Basketball Game later this year.
