Go for What You Love. Go FDU.

At Fairleigh Dickinson, you will find a university committed to preparing students for the challenges of a changing world, a faculty whose members bring rich insights as scholars and as professionals, and students of all backgrounds and interests who are driven by a desire to change their lives – and the world around them.

FDU provides its students with a variety of different learning experiences that will teach, challenge and prepare you for a lifetime of success. Our classes are small and personal, and give you the opportunity to better connect with your professors and other students. Every class is taught by an experienced, engaged professor, and we emphasize experiential learning, which we believe better prepares students for the real world.
