January Big Idea: Knowledge

Knowledge is learning something new so you can be better at whatever you do.

Animal: Bighorn Sheep Bighorn sheep are native to North America. They are named for their large horns and range in color from light brown to grayish or dark chocolate brown. Scientists have recently confirmed that bighorn sheep pass on knowledge about migration (moving from place to place) from generation to generation.

Student Council is doing their yearly change collection for Pennies for Patients. This is an organization that helps raise money to do research to find cures for different types of leukemia and blood cancers that affect children. A collection box will be going home on Friday.
